Dear David,

I ran down to John & Lomas, but, your esteemed presence was back on its way to ye Merrie old England. I had something of note to give you on your pet subject X.

You should keep this ^{masonry} as an interest solely, because you will never find a lodge of masons anywhere in the world, that has any even the slightest lesson or interest in the mysticis you seek.

It is 100% a social club, consisting of men that like to dress up and put on an act, like so many church goers, its not of the heart, but something that some people hold of false values, and ^{you} imagine that membership to the Masonic craft is desirable to the mystical or religious ways of life, dont waste any more time or money, you are a highly intelligent young man so get your values right, believe me Im regretfull of every penny spent and wasted time going to all the meetings, lodges, brethren, and only to end up seeing how false are so called fellows of society. What you seek are the practitioners of oriental masonry people like the golden dawn etc. of all this type of mysticism I find the GNOSTICS far superior and they will give you the first 50 lessons free, I was looking for a book (small one on English lodge Rules) but cant find it. Ill give you a book on Rose cross degrees, the highest in English Masonry, and you can try them out for yourself. also if you feel you want to carry on Ill get books on Ritual for you the study. David having been thro it all believe me the only genuine practice is WICCA and it can be a deep study it desired but really the craft is simplicity in itself but the various gifts can in some cases be aided by study of not WICCA Techniques and of course leave the crosses and only take in what one feels and requires to satisfy ones intellectual feelings and spiritualities. You do not come across to me as one seeking a lift of 100% conventional church going Backstreet, good decent citizens, so concentrate on your inner self and contentment, and live a natural life as nature intended, leave the world as it is (amess) alone as much as you can, of course you must work earn a living etc but believe me love is the way, the only way, for ^{also} the xtrains also will tell you God is love. you take this to heart and do what is right and natural you will find contentment you seek in the simple things, and this is what to aim for. as for the rest learn from old fools like myself, dont make mistakes like me, rather take advantage of one who knows and save yourself a lot of trouble. Also David you have a wonderful partner who needs you and so dont let this chance pass you by you wont get a chance again, Ive been years on my own now and would not wish ^{you} the cancerous effect of loneliness. Please practice the way of the G's. and may the Blessings of all the old ones be not ignored, Take this chance David please and wait till you come back up my time is yours and Melisas infact Ill make myself available to answer in detail any question you ask and will be privileged to help you both. For tis the command of the G. e G's.

I remain
Yours in the f's.
Blessed Be.
Charlie.

Debrah.

David how not study astrology and so on to use up your intellectual energy, also, comparative Religion etc etc.

P.P.S. Give my love to m and ask her if she wants me to look out for good books on healing as I feel she would make a good healer and I have a good book for her on this by a local Dr. he started all the HYDRO Hotel treatments, tell next time Love and Blessed Be.
